

Report from the Assembly President
November 18, 2011

Assembly Members, Executive Officers, Directors, and GPSA affiliates,

As you will see from today's November meeting, the ninth legislative session of Arizona State University's Graduate and Professional Student Association is a productive one.

We entered this session with 4 open assembly seats, and we welcome one new member today (College of Technology and Innovation). Also, two other assembly members are slated to be appointed in December (New College of Interdisciplinary Arts and Sciences & CLAS – Humanities). This leaves the School of Journalism vacant. I am continuously soliciting applications for this position.

The GSO funding program has been very active and the Assembly Operations Committee will introduce AB #14 today that summarizes the November funding recommendations. I encourage the assembly to visit the Assembly Operations Committee meeting if they would like to be involved in funding recommendations.

The most important update necessary this month will come from representative James Alling, our representative to the student government constitution review committee. Please support his work as the GPSA representative to this body of student leaders.

I am looking forward to a productive and successful remainder of the semester in student advocacy and appreciate the commitment that each of you continue to make to improve graduate student life here at Arizona State.

Respectfully submitted,

Matthew Savage
